Course Description

Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) laws are among the most powerful tools currently available to identify and influence the environmental effects of human activities. These laws are soundly praised and roundly criticized by city councils, developers, and environmental advocates alike, but most of the public is simply unaware of the power these laws can give to the average citizen.

This course will teach you the basis for understanding, using and analyzing the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), one of the first and most influential environmental impact laws on the books. We will also become familiar with the federal impact assessment law, National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

Through a combination of lecture, field and project work, we will learn to conduct introductory assessments of the impacts of real projects such as, on our air quality, land-use, environmental health and equity and wildlife. Moreover, the service-learning component will provide the opportunity to advocate for environmental justice, conserve natural resources, and address the complexity of climate change.

Impact assessment requires careful study of information from multiple disciplines, and it covers many environmental resources. Analyzing and producing environmental assessment documents requires significant group work, perseverance, creativity and a lot of work. Remember this is a four-unit course! Buckle your seatbelts (put on your bike helmets) for a challenging, but exhilarating, ride.

Grading: Letter Graded

Course Requirements and Assignments

1. Credit-hours statement: University Policy S16-9,

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.”

2. 3-unit Lecture: Through a combination of lecture, field and project work, we will learn to conduct introductory environmental assessments of the impacts of real land-use development projects on a variety of resource areas such as, air quality, hazardous materials, cultural resources, and wildlife. This course complies with the requirements per the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).

1-unit Community and Service Activity: This course incorporates community service. The lab activity will link the needs of the local community and strengthen students' environmental analytical skills. Students are required to complete the 1-unit Service Activity, which is approximately 2 hours weekly. (1) Students will select to view and/or attend government meetings according to their individual availability. (2) Students must also complete a minimum of 10 hours that includes a project deliverable. The instructor provides the service-learning opportunities and instructions for all the deliverables via Canvas.

To pass this course, both the Lecture and Service Lab Activity must be completed per the ENVS 185 syllabus

Basic Tasks Service-Learning

Student Tasks
Attend/Observe a minimum of four government meetings; Prepare 4 Briefs for the Government Meetings Report
Service-learning experience provided by the instructor (minimum 10 hours of volunteer service); and a Service-Learning Deliverable

3. Originality and honesty: It is appropriate to cite others' work extensively, with attribution. It is never appropriate to use other authors' language or ideas, from the web or from written documents, as though they were your own. If you have any questions about appropriate citation, please talk to me personally or write me a note. Misuse of written material can result in course failure. Please do not email or call planners to help you with your assignments/deliverables. If you need help or have any questions, contact the instructor. The purpose of this course is to develop numerous professional skills and independence. [University Academic Integrity Policy F15-7 \[pdf\]](#) Student Conduct and Ethical Development

4. Readings: Please expect to attend all lecture/discussions and complete all readings before the class period. Completing the assigned readings will significantly improve your understanding of CEQA and other environmental laws. ENV5 185 is a fast-paced course and lecture time cannot cover everything.

5. Deliverables (writing assignments) and participation: During lectures, I will ask questions about the course materials. These questions will help determine whether I have conveyed the information adequately in lecture, whether you are keeping up with and understanding reading assignments, and they will provide for direct feedback about what you are learning through your group's lab/service assignment. In addition, we will complete in-class writing analysis assignments to strengthen your EIA skills. Be aware that we will also complete group work during our class. In-class deliverables cannot be made up unless you are ill or have other emergencies.

6. Draft documents: As in real impact assessment, the drafting process and public presentation are taken very seriously. First draft documents are worth more than final drafts.

7. Late Deliverables Policy: Everyone is experiencing challenges and to provide adequate feedback to all students, I do not accept late submissions. Late deliverables will be considered only for legitimate circumstances, when arranged in advance, or with a doctor's memo. If you have any concerns, please communicate with me as soon as possible.

ENV5 185 emulates the CEQA's process and timeline. Per CEQA's Statutes and Guidelines, all environmental documents are required for submittal within regulations' timeline. Therefore, the instructor must enforce the same stringent requirements of meeting deadlines. We are also practicing being professionals.

Land Acknowledgement

Land Honor Acknowledgement provided by the CA Faculty Association (CFA) Indigenous Peoples' Caucus:

We gather as students, faculty, staff, and community of San Jose State University, situated on the traditional land of the Muwekma, Tamyen, and Ohlone Tribe past and present, and honor with gratitude the land itself and the people who have stewarded it throughout the generations. This calls us to commit to continuing to learn how to be better stewards of the land we inhabit as well. To recognize the land is an expression of gratitude and appreciation to those whose territory we reside on and a way of honoring the Indigenous people who have been living and working on the land from time immemorial. It is important to understand the long-standing history that has brought us to reside on the land and to seek to understand our place within that history. Land acknowledgments do not exist in past tense or historical context: colonialism is a current ongoing process, and we need to build our mindfulness of our present participation. Acknowledging the land is an important Indigenous protocol that we are honoring here today.
